

Power Connection Light

I seldom get a hookup, and when I do it can be a hassle getting the right circuit breakers turned on and used to require several trips into the trailer to verify that the AC power was on.

There is an easy solution – mount a pilot light in the refer panel cover and connect it to the refer power. This gives you a nice bright light that lets you know the power is on.

